Bow String Build-Along by Jay St Charles

Every archer should learn to make their own bowstrings. It's easy once you learn how. "Before, you'll always be in need of a string. After, you'll never be without." The gist: Everyone bring a bow you want to make a bowstring for. I'll have extra material and tools for all, but please bring a any string making materials and serving tools you have.

All we need to make a sting for any traditional bow are: A pocket knife, string material, serving thread, bee's wax, a serving tool and your dexterity. And, of course, a bow! The bow is also your measuring device. Everyone will complete a string for their bow. In fact, I recommend completing several immediately so that the knowledge is cemented.
